Working Toward A Greater Glory

Handmade delicacies only from the Abbey of Gethsemani in Kentucky

Nestled in the green hills south of Louisville, our devoted community of Trappist monks pray, work and live as they have since 1848. Silent prayer and meditation fill the days, but a few precious hours are reserved for creating our one-of-a-kind fruitcake and fudge.

Divine Treats: Our Sole Means of Support

All Trappist monks support their cloistered communities through the work of their hands—a practice observed for centuries. Monks at the Abbey of Gethsemani devote our talents to producing critically acclaimed fruitcake and fudge savored around the country. Using the freshest fruits and nuts, robust chocolate and genuine Kentucky Bourbon, we infuse homemade taste in every small batch. May our efforts become gifts of goodness for your family and friends!

BLESSINGS,

Br. Roger

Brother Roger, Operations Manager

PRAY. WORK. LOVE.

The Abbey of Gethsemani is a community of Roman Catholic monks belonging to the worldwide order known as Trappist. Strictly observing the Rule of St. Benedict, we live, pray, and work in silence—a practice our order has followed for fifteen centuries. Trappists seek God in every day and every moment.

"This fudge is decadently delicious!" — SHERRY P.
